CHURCH NOTICES.

ST. PETER'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH .-Rev. H. L. Foote, Pastor. Services this morning and evening.

PRESBYTEBIAN CHURCH .- Rev. Josieh McClain will preach in the Presbyterian church this morning and evening, at the usual hours.

M. E. CHURCH. - Rev. J. D. Hammond, Pastor. Services to-day at P. M. Sabbath School at 2 P. w. Seats free. All are invited, Subject of evening discourse: "What to Buy, and When to Sell."

THIS time it is not the doctors who disagree, for they all believe that Larkin is dead, but the two lawyers, Judge Branson and Mr. Cowie, have got into a controversy about the innocence of the victim. The former gentleman refused to accompany the condemned to the gallows, because he considered the hanging a "judicial murder, and a shame and disgrace to the State, to the age in which we live, and to common humanity." The Judge further asserts that his friend was in entire innocence of the charge preferred, and says let his blood rest upon the craven cowards who had him in charge, and who were too cowardly to do him justice. This language is pretty strong to say the least, and Mr. Cowie has been bearded in his den, and comes forth and says that he has it from Larkin's own lips that he shot Daniel Corcoran. Therefore no injustice has been done, no judicial murder has been committed, no innocent man has been hung. It is the old story changed, "who shall decide when the lawyers disagree?"

THEY have had another murder out in Elko. Charles Silverstein is the victim, and he was a Sacremento young man, aged about twenty-two years. Robert Crosier's pistol aent the fatal shot, and jealousy was the cause of the affair. Mollie Costello is the woman in question, and at the frail one's door is laid the responsibility of the affair. The Coroner's inquest has had its session, and the murdered man has been pronounced dead.

MILES QUILLAN, the County Treasurer of Lincoln county is said to be a defaulter for nearly ten thousand dollars. He used the money in gambling, and intended to return the original after his fortune had been made. But the wheel of fortune turned the wrong way for Miles, and now he is an outcast from society and friends.

Larkin's Case.

Accounts given in the newspapers, respecting the execution of Larkin, set forth what purports to be a telegram received from Attorney General Kittrell, as follows: Carson, January 18, 1877.

Myself and the Board of Pardons can see no reason for clemency.

KITTRELL, Attorney General. We are informed by General Kittrell that he sent but one dispatch to Virginia City on the subject, which was in response to the following, received by him at his residence at about 9 o'clock P. M. of the 18th instant:

VIRGINIA, January 18, 1877. Hon. J. R. Kittrell, Carson, Nevada: Is there any hope for the pardon of Larkin? MILES FINLAN. Larkin? To this dispatch the Attorney General sent the following: Carson, January 18, 1877. Miles Finlan, Virginia, Nevada: None that I can see. Three Judges and I, can discover no grounds for clemency.

J. R. KITTRELL.

A very laughable incident occurred on the occasion of the Jubilee Singer's concert at Elko. The house was crowded with an enthusiastic audience, and the singers were in the very midst of that grand old song. "Where is he that was born king of the Jews?" This question was thundered out in tones of sublimity and grandeur, and while every ear was attentive, and every head was stretched forward to catch the notes of the music itself, suddenly in the pit there appeared the King of the Jews in a demoralized form—a man clad in apparel of many colors and stains, and with bunch after bunch of lighted fire-crackers hanging to his tail. O what a Pandemonium was there raised! The men yelled, the women shricked, the singers saved themselves by ignominious flight. Yes, their song was answered soon enough, and the disturber him-self rushed through the crowd, the cannonading increasing, gained the stage and then executed a step which would have made a French ballot girl stare. Then he disappeared through a side door, the Jubilees were coaxed back to their songs, and everything was again as merry as a marriage bell. The next day the would be King of the Jews with war paint on his brow, and fire-crackers to his coat tail was found to be no other person than John Kelly himself, and for his fun he now languishes fifty days in the county jail.

The Enterprise yesterday paid the following tribute to Jerry Schooling who guards the State's money over at the Capitol: "Probably there is no better way to close this article than by relating a little anecdote of another man, who has the control of hundreds of thousands of dollars of public money. We happened, some three or four years ago, to be stopping at the same hotel with him n San Francisco. One evening asked us when we were going to leave the city. We answered, "to-morrow." He said, "I am going to-morrow also, and am going to carry with me $400,000 in gold notes and bonds." Next morning, going into the office of the hotel, we beard him telling the clerk that he would send the amount of his bill, some $40, so soon as he reached home. We said to him, "You are here on State business Wby don't you pay your bill with State money instead of carrying it home and sending it back?" The reply was, "I might be killed on the cars, and my ac-counts would not balance." We could not help telling him that so big as old fool as he, was never in any danger of being killed. That old fool stil lives, and his name is Jerry Schooling. He has very correct ideas of the duties of a State Treasurer.

A beautiful winter scene was witnessed yesterday from Carson street. A bank of snow white clouds had settled on the mountains over towards Virginia, and as the mountains themselves were covered with snow, no separation could be seen. The spectator could see a vast mass of snow extending into the sky higher than Mont Blane, and the view was only stopped by the distance itself. It was a picture of wondrous beauty, and one which is seldom seen in nature or on

The Mexican Veterans had another meeting last evening in the Senste Chamber. An excellent address was delivered on the occasion by Frank Stewart. A goodly crowd was in attendance. Another meeting will be held in two weeks. The Veterans propose to have a grand ball in February, and they also propose to invite their first cousins, the Pioneers, to join with them in celebrating the anniversary of the battle of Buena Vista.

Mr. Smith's bill regulating the sale of opium is likely to become a law. The Chinese say it is an infringement upon their rights, for they use it in the same manner as Americans use tobacco. But that this opium vice is extending even among other nationalities than the Chinese is well known, and the sconer s decided stop is put to the same so much the better will it be for the morals of the people at large.

Should a heavy rain come the weight upon some of the house tops in Carson would be almost insupportable, and serious calamities might occur. The old adage, "A stitch in time saves nine," is applicable just now.

We are sorry to learn of the illness of Rev. McClain during the past week, but are gratified to learn that he is sufficiently recovered to attend to his usual exercises to-day.

The railroads are again open, and the trains yesterday arrived and departed with but slight interruptions.

.The track between here and Virginia is kept clear by a large snow plow and two smaller ones.

In the Nevada Senate fourteen different States are represented as the places of nativity of the members, and seventeen members came to this State from California. Ross, from Washoe, is the father of the body in age, he being fifty-nine years old. Cresswell, of Nye, is the youngest, he being but six and twenty. There are sixteen married men among them all, six bachelors and three widowers. The trades and occupations are as numerous almost as the members themselves. An alarming rumor was current vesterday in Virginia, to the effect that the roof of Odd Fellow's Hall had sunk several inches, and there was danger of a fall. Whether the report was true or not, it is very certain that the amount of snow on the tops of all buildings now is very great, and the sooner it is cleared off the better for everyone concerned.

IN THE Executive Department over at the Capitol, computing the officers and deputies and clerks, the aggregate age is seven hundred and ninetyone years. Ten of these are married, seven are single and one is a widower. The Governor, besides being the highest in authority, is also the oldest, he being seventy-two years

Jones came from England, and is forty-seven years of age. Sharon came from Ohio, and is nine years the senior of Jones. Wren is halfway between being fifty-one years old

Now is the time for poor men who can't find work to step to the front, For shoveling snow from the sidewalks and house-tops the price is from fifty cents to one dollar an hour.

Consolidated Virginia has considerably advanced within the last two or three days. The cause is a report of a rich ore strike on one of the lower levels.

Owing to the inclemency of the weather there will be no services this morning in the Methodist Episcopal Church. The usual evening service will be held.

THE Supreme Judges now on the Bench of this State all came here from California. Beatty is the youngest and Hawley is the oldest.

THE Tennessee Singers failed to hold forth in Virginia on Friday evening. They were snowed in along the route.

Over six feet of snow is reported between the Florida mine and American Flat. THE roof of the Piute mill has been crushed in by its overburden
